A new approach to investigating ability and disability in reading comprehension

Dr. Van Dyke At A Glance…

Dr. Julia Van Dyke is a Senior Research Scientist at Haskins Laboratories. Her research focuses on identifying control mechanisms through which language processes interact with memory. She is especially interested in understanding the role of retrieval failure as a source of comprehension breakdown.

Dr. Van Dyke’s research is supported by grants from the National Institutes of Health.